Protocol Appendix A

RULES OF PROCEDURES FOR THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

INTRODUCTION

This document is an Appendix A to the Protocol of the Association and consists of rules and procedures for the General Assembly. The 'Rules of procedures' are a part of the Protocol and must not contradict with the Statutory Base. The 'Rules of procedures' were created as guidelines for the formal procedures required to be followed prior and during the organization of the General Assembly in order to have it structured.

PART I: GENERAL ISSUES

I.0. Definition of the General Assembly

The General Assembly is considered as the highest decisive body, consisting of one representative per member entity of the association, as defined in Article 9 and 10 of the Statutory Base and Protocol.

The Annual Meeting of the General Assembly is defined in Article 9 and 10 of the Statutory Base and Protocol. The General Assembly can convene additional meetings as elaborated in Article 9 and 10 of the Statutory Base and Protocol.

When rules apply only to the Annual Meeting of the General Assembly, it will be stated as such. Otherwise, rules apply to all meetings of the General Assembly, when convened in accordance with the Statutory Base and Protocol. The location or technology used to convene the meeting does not influence the applicability of any regulations stated in this Appendix. I.1. Attendances and speaking rights at meetings of the General Assembly

All individuals of the Association are allowed to attend meetings of the General Assembly, but only the representatives of the member entities, Regional Contact Persons, Secretariat Coordinator and the Board are authorised to take part in debates by default. At any time the General Assembly and the Board may invite other speakers.

I.2. Chairperson of meetings of the General Assembly

The person chairing a meeting of the General Assembly is called the 'moderator'.

I.3. Time Limits

It is up to the moderator to decide about the time limit reserved for the discussion of each agenda item. However, the discussion of each agenda item should be as short as possible. The moderator can set up a reasonable time limit for a speech of one person in the discussion if necessary. Each entity representative may either ask a question or make a comment only once per agenda item. The person submitting a proposal for review by the General Assembly is the first to start and the last to finish the discussion.

I.4. Voting

I.4.1. The General Assembly takes decisions by the relative majority of representatives from the member entities present at the meeting, except of the cases mentioned in the Statutory Base or the Protocol.

I.4.2. Relative majority means that while voting among several options or 'abstaining', the option gaining the most votes is approved. However, if the option 'abstaining' prevails, voting has to be repeated until one of the other options except 'abstaining' wins.

I.4.3. Two-thirds majority means that the number of votes for a proposition or candidate must equal or exceed twice the number of votes against it. However, if the option 'abstaining' prevails, voting has to be repeated until one of several options except 'abstaining' wins.

I.4.4. Absolute majority means that the option gaining more than half of the casted votes prevails. If a choice is to be made between more than two options, and no absolute majority has been reached, then a second vote takes place with the two most favoured options. If the option 'abstaining' prevails, voting has to be repeated until one of the other options except 'abstaining' wins. Absolute majority is only required when this option is specifically mentioned in the Statutory base or the Protocol.

I.4.5. Each representative of the member entities has one vote.

I.4.6. Every vote at a meeting of the General Assembly is cast by a signal defined by the moderator, unless the moderator requires a written vote or a member of the General Assembly desires this before voting. Written voting will be done by secret ballot (unsigned). The result of the voting shall be announced by the moderator.

I.4.7. The moderator resolves all cases of dispute concerning the voting process that are not covered by the articles of the Association.

PART II: AGENDA & PROCESS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

MEETINGS

II.1. Preparation of a meeting of the General Assembly

II.1.1. The written notification of the General Assembly and a draft agenda shall be sent by the Board via e-mail at least 30 days prior to the meeting of the General Assembly to all member and candidate entity contact persons.

II.1.2. Each entity present at the meeting of the General Assembly has to nominate one representative to act on behalf of the entity. The name of the representative should be announced to the Board at least 20 days prior to the meeting of the General Assembly.

II.1.3. Any entity or individuals from an entity may request the inclusion of supplementary items in the agenda. Such requests must reach the Board at least 20 days prior to the meeting of the General Assembly.

II.1.4. Proposals related to the modification of Articles of the Statutory Base or the Protocol must be sent to the Board 20 days prior to the meeting of the General Assembly.

II.1.5. The Board has to inform the entities and their nominated representatives about the final agenda and all the received proposals related to the modification of articles of the Statutory Base or the Protocol. This information has to be sent by email 15 days prior to the meeting of the General Assembly.

II.1.6. Any alterations to the proposal after II.1.5. are considered either amendments or counter proposals. Amendments are changes to the proposal that don't affect the meaning of it, but e.g. improve phrasing or grammar. Counter proposals are changes to the proposal that change the meaning of the intended change. Counter proposals are to be received latest 48h before the start of the voting of at the meeting of the General Assembly.

II.2. Opening of the meeting

II.2.1. The president of the Board shall take the chair at the beginning of the meeting of the General Assembly. If the president is not present, someone else from the Board will take over this task.

II.2.2. After the entities' representatives have registered for the meeting of the General Assembly, the president of the Board has to present the updated list of entities. The General Assembly has to approve the new list.

II.2.3. The General Assembly shall then elect three individuals, excluding the Board members, the moderator, the Secretariat Coordinator and Entityrepresentatives, from the Association to count the votes during the meeting of the General Assembly. These three individuals shall not be candidates for any other office subject to election at the meeting of the General Assembly. II.2.4. The General Assembly then appoints a person to chair the meeting of the General Assembly, called the moderator of the General Assembly. This person shall not be a candidate for any other office subject to election. The moderator shall be solely responsible for the functioning of the meeting of the General Assembly.

II.2.5. The General Assembly shall then elect at least two people to take the minutes of the meeting of the General Assembly.

II.3. Validity of the meeting, Quorum

II.3.1. The moderator will check the validity of the meeting based on the implementation of the preparation procedures and the required number of representatives of member entities present as per SB article 10.2.

II.3.2. In case of the invalidity of the meeting of the General Assembly as a result of not fulfilling the preparation procedures mentioned in part II.1. of this document, the General Assembly may decide to validate the meeting by a 2/3 majority of votes. However, if there is no compliance with SB article 10.2., the General Assembly cannot validate the Meeting of the General Assembly under any circumstances.

II.4. Approval of the agenda

Any subsequent changes of the agenda will require the approval of the General Assembly.

II.5. Approvals of minute takes, moderator & vote counters

II.6. Announcements

Announcements are the first point on the agenda and are not voted upon. They may explain the state of affairs in the association.

II.7. Issues to be debated

Financial Report & Budget are discussed and voted upon. Proposals may be debated and approved.

II.8. Discharge of the old Official Positions

II.9. Approval of the new Official Positions

II.10. Closure of the meeting

The moderator gives the word to the president of the new Board to close the meeting.

II.11. Minutes of the meeting of the General Assembly

Minutes of the meeting of the General Assembly should be finalized and made public by the secretary of the previous Board within 30 days after the meeting of the General Assembly.

PART III: RULES OF PROCEDURE FOR ONLINE CONVEYING THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

III.1. Procedure

If no meeting of the General Assembly can be convened, decisions can be made according with Article 10 of the Statutory Base

III.2. Preparation

III.2.1. The written calling notice of the 'Written General Assembly, the date and time of its beginning and a draft agenda shall be sent by the Board at least 30 days prior to the beginning of the online General Assembly via e-mail to all entity contact persons.

III.2.2. Each entity can announce the name of one representative with his/her contact address to the Board until 15 days prior to the beginning of the online General Assembly.

III.2.3. Before the beginning of the written General Assembly, the Board and every entity representative can make proposals.

III.2.4. The debate about the proposals is held online. Every representative of an EGEA entity can participate.

III.3. Opening of the meeting

III.3.1. After the end of the registration, the Board prepares and publishes the new list of entities with and without voting rights at least 3 days before the beginning of the online General Assembly. At least 50 % of the entities with voting rights have to be registered.

III.3.2. If no representative of any entity declares a public objection against the list during a period of 3 days after it was published, the list is considered to be approved for the online General Assembly. If an objection is declared, the Board can allow it and update the list. If the Board does not allow the objection, the list has to be approved by voting at the online General Assembly according to part III. 3. of this document.

III.3.3. After the list of entities is approved, the Board presents an agenda for the meeting. If no representative of any member entity declares a public objection against the proposal during a period of 3 days after it is announced, the agenda is considered to be approved. If an objection is declared, the agenda has to be approved by voting at the online General Assembly according to part III.3. of this document.

III.4. Voting during the online General Assembly

III.4.1. After the agenda is approved, the president or any other member of the Board sends the following items via e-mail and makes them public.

III.4.1.1. A complete list of the proposals for each agenda item.

III.4.1.2. A detailed and clear description of how to submit the votes.

III.4.1.3. The beginning and the end of the period for submitting the votes. This period has to be at least 7 days long.

III.4.1.4. Names of the persons responsible for processing the votes.

III.4.2. After the deadline for submitting the votes, the results are announced and the votes of the respective entity representatives are made public. At least 50 % of the representatives of the member entities have to submit their vote; otherwise the voting is not valid.

III.4.3. If no representative of any member entity declares a public objection against incorrect processing of his/her vote during a period of 3 days after the results are made public, the results of the online General Assembly become valid.

III.4.4. If a public objection against incorrect processing of votes is declared, the Board has to allow the objection and publish the updated results. The new results become valid if no entity representative makes a public objection against incorrect processing of his/her vote during a period of 3 days after the new results have been made public.
